SAN CARLOS MAN ON HIGH SCHOOL BOARD; MISS ABBOTT NAMES ONE FOR VACANCY

Donald W. Williams Withdraws from Board Because of Ill Health; Merritt Hosmer Named to Trusteeship

The resignation of Donald W. Williams of Redwood City as a member of the board of trustees of the Sequoia Union High School, was announced yesterday by County Superintendent of Schools Pansy Jewett Abbott. Mr. Williams has been ill for the past two months and is at present taking treatment at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco. While he is regaining his health and expects to be able to return to his home within a few weeks, he has been advised by his physician to retire from active participation in all public affairs for the present.

Mr. Williams has been a member of the board for the past seven years, having been first elected in March, 1924, and re-elected in 1927 and 1930. His third term would not expire until 1933. He has made a splendid and efficient trustee and has devoted a great deal of his time to the interests of the school. The Williams gold medal awarded each year for the past ten years to the boy student with the best athletic record during the four years is his gift.

Successor Named

Merritt R. Hosmer, prominent young businessman of San Carlos and city councilman of that place, has been named by Miss Abbott as successor to Mr. Williams. The appointment was made on the recommendation of the other trustees, who were desirous of seeing the north end of the district represented on the board.

Mr. Hosmer is an alumnus of Sequoia, having graduated in 1919, later attending Stanford University. He has been prominent in the business and civic affairs of San Carlos for the past ten years.

In april, 1929, he was appointed city councilman to fill a vacancy on the board and the following year was elected to the position by the largest majority ever given a trustee in that city.

Mr. Hosmer is in the real estate business and is at present secretary of the Redwod City District Real Eestate Board. He is also secretary of the San Carlos Planning Commission and is past president of the San Carlos Volunteer Fire Department.

Mr. Hosmer will take his seat as the new high school trustee tonight, when the board holds its regular monthly meeting. The other members of the board are Walter T. Kellogg, president; Charles H. Merrill, Walter W. Hilton and J. D. Hedge, secretary.

MRS. GAVIN MUST SHOW PARENTAGE BUCK'S DECISION

Second Amended Petition of Claimant To Flood Estate Denied; Ten Days Given for Change

The petition of Mrs. Constance May Gavin, contesting heir to the estate of the late James M. Flood, that she be allowed to file a second amended petition to a portion of the Flood fortune, has been denied by Judge George H. Buck, of the superior court of this county. In denying the petition of Mrs. Gavin in which she sought to claim a daughter's share of the Flood estate either through being a daughter of James Flood and his first wife, Mrs. Rosina Flood, or through being a daughter of James Flood and Mrs. Eudora Willett, Judge Buck stated that if within 10 days Mrs. Gavin would file a petition on a single claim that he would entertain it.

Attorney Garrett McEnerney, representing the widow of James Flood, and other heirs of the Flood estate, has demurred to each petition for distribution filed by Mrs. Gavin on the ground that the question of her parentage must first be determined.

In her second petition Mrs. Gavin made two counts, first that she has no personal knowledge of the time and place of her birth nor of who her parents were. She stated, however, that she believes that she was born in San Francisco during the year 1893. The petition stated that "for several years immediately prior thereto the said James L. Flood and the said Maria Rosina Flood were husband and wife, and the petitioner in this belief alleges that she is the issue of said marriage and born in lawful wedlock."

A second count was entered in the amended petition in which Mrs. Gavin after reaffirming that she has no personal knowledge of the time and place of her birth nor of her parents, says that it has been alleged that she is the illigitimate daughter of James L. Flood and of Mrs. Eudora Forde Willette.

This was followed by a statement that during the month of August 1893 she was accepted into the Flood home. This was with the knowledge and consent of Mrs. Rosina Flood. Thereafter, it is stated, Flood accepted her as his own daughter of James L. Flood and of her as a daughter, and gave her the same care and affection which a natural father would give a natural daughter.

Mrs. Gavin asks a two-ninths share of the Flood fortune. She also asks that she be granted $100,000 as a partial distribution of the estate.

Mrs. Gavin claimed in her first petition for a part of the $18,000,000 Flood estate that she was the daughter of Mrs. Rosina Flood and of James Flood. Later when Mrs. Willett came forward and claimed that she was the mother of Mrs. Gavin, and that the father was James Flood, Mrs. Gavin amended her petition so that heirship might be claimed in either event.

Mrs. Willette in her deposition reversed her story and claims that the father was one James Cannon, a property man in the old Grove Street theatre in San Francisco.

Scouts Carve Totem Poles

SUPERIOR, Wis., (UP)—During the past two years, Willard Martinsson and Patrick McKnite, boy scouts have carved 15 totem poles in their cellar workshop. The largest stands six feet high. Another tells the story of their Boy Scout troop, with animals as symbols. The poles are used as ash tray standards, hat trees, lamps and vases.

HIGHWAY SECTOR FROM SAN MATEO DEDICATED TO USE OF MOTORISTS

Governor and Highway Officials Attend Banquet Here Prior to Ceremony of Opening New Link of Road

MAYOR STAFFORD CHAIRMAN OF DAY

City and County Officials Attend Dinner At Emerald Lake

With Governor James Rolph as the honored guest and participating in the ceremonies, the people of Redwood City and all San Mateo county celebrated the opening of the new link of the Beyshore highway between San Mateo and Redwood City yesterday. Thousands of people from all parts of the Peninsula and over 2000 children from the local schools attended the impressive ceremonies which took place on a platform erected on the highway where it enters Washington street, and enthusiastically cheered as the Chief Executive of the State cut the ribbon which officially opened the new thoroughfare to traffic.

At noon Governor Rolph, Colonel Walter E. Garrison, director of public work; G. H. Purcell, state highway engineer; John H. Skeggs, district engineer, and member of the State Highway Commission, were honored guests at a luncheon given under the auspices of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce at El Casino, Emerald Lake. Several hundred persons, including the five supervisors of San Mateo county, other county officials, city councilmen, officials and executives of chambers of commerce from all the municipalities between San Francisco and Palo Alto were present at the luncheon.

Introduced at the luncheon by Mayor Daniel R. Stafford of Redwood City, Governor Rolph spoke in part as follows:

"My dear Mr. Mayor, members of the Board of Supervisors, mayors of all the cities of San Mateo county, other officials and my neighbors. This is a great day and a great occasion for the citizens of San Mateo county. It marks the completion of another link in the State highway system. We come here today to take part in your celebration, the opening of your highway. To me it is like coming home, to visit San Mateo county—it is like coming among my old friends.

Then using the same text from the Book of Proverbs as did President Hoover when he took his oath of office.—"Where there is no Vision the People Perish," Governor Rolph added "Where there is Vision the people Prosper. Here there has been vision and as a result the people have advanced.

"Today we come to see a great vision realized, we come to see a great highway completed, a highway that has already cost $6,400,000 and when completed to San Jose will cost $10,000,000. There is now available in the highway budget $1,800,000 to continue this road to San Jose. There is more money being spent in San Mateo county on state highways than in any other part of the state.

"Your highway construction is a marvelous piece of work and your people can rejoice in the completion of this great artery of travel, that is going to bring people from all parts of California through your county and into San Francisco. When I was a boy I rode over your county on horseback. Today I fly over it in an airplane. When I was a boy California had a population of 1,000,000. Today the population is 5,600,000.

"Isn't it marvelous the way San Francisco and your county have grown? Isn't is marvelous to know that San Mateo county is to be the household of this great city, second only to Los Angeles in growth on the entire Pacific Coast?

"What an interesting thing it is to travel over this wonderful new highway, 100 feet in width and with its four lanes for traffic. Picture what this means to San Mateo county—the bringing of people and industries.

"Where is there a more favored spot in all the world than San Mateo county. It is a paradise. I am thrilled to be here and thrilled to rejoice with you in all your opportunities. As governor of the great State of California. I am going to be fair to all its people, but one cannot help having an affection for his "sweetheart at home."

Following his address Governor Rolph introduced to those at the luncheon Colonel Walter Garrison, Director of Public Works; G. H. Purcell, State Highway Engineer; Colonel John H. Skeggs, District Engineer and Timothy H. Reardon, member of the Highway Commission.

Following the luncheon the Governor and his official party with Mayor Stafford and other city and chamber of commerce officials, led the parade of 2000 high and grammar school children down Broadway and out Washington street to the scene of the dedication ceremonies. Here again the Governor introduced by Mayor Stafford, addressed the thousands assembled, telling of his happiness to be present on such an auspicious occasion and relating the wonderful advantages the new road would bring to San Mateo county.

Completing his talk, Governor Rolph invited Superior Judge Geo. H. Buck, who has honored the bench of San Mateo county for over 40 years, to cut the ribbon officially opening the highway to traffic. But the judge had found it necessary to return to court before the ceremonies were over and the Governor himself then severed the silken barrier, exclaiming as he did so,"God bless the highway, God bless the people, and may the new road be an inspiration to all the people who pass over it and be a monument to the progress and prosperity of the people of San Mateo county and of the State of California.

As the silken ribbon dropped from its fastening and fluttered across the highway to be quickly gathered in pieces by hundreds of school children as mementos of a great day for Redwood City, Governor Rolph led the thousands in a final rousing three cheers.

As the Governor stepped upon the platform to make his address he was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers by three girl scouts—Beatrice Stentiford, Ella Kilbourne and Katherine Kalenborn.

The arrangements for the dedication ceremonies and the welcome to Governor Rolph yesterday were in charge of the highway committee of the chamber of commerce consisting of Dave L. Walter, Charles Holt, L. A. Heiner and Charles L. Dimmitt, who were assisted by President Henry Witte, Secretary-Manager Howard I. Wood and other officers and members of the chamber.

MARKS, Miss., (UP) — For the first time in 10 years the Buitman County jail is empty. Sheriff Clint Anderson attributes this to the frowing spirit of Quitman County residents to "abide by the law."

Harbor District Bill Given 'Okeh'

Bill Providing for Formation Of Harbor Districts Passes Senate

The bill prepared by Albert Mansfield and introduced into the legislature by Assemblyman Harry Parkman, which provided for the formation of harbor districts, has been passed by both houses of the legislature, and now only awaits the signature of Governor Rolph to become a law.

The bill provides that any county or portion of a county, any city or portion of a city, or more than one city with or without a portion of unincoporated territory may become incorporated as a harbor district provided that there is contained within its confines a harbor which may be improved.

The bill provides for the formation of the district, for holding elections for harbor commissioners, for their compensation, and for the duties of the commissioners.

It is believed that the bill will be signed immediately by Governor Rolph, and in that case will open the way for the formation of a harbor district in the southern section of this county for the improvement of Redwood harbor and of the harbor property contiguous to it both on the north and south.

Identity Learned Of Colma Suicide

Authorities Decide Man Was Victim of Own Act; Murder Denied

The man whose body was found near the coast in the northern section of the county was a victim of his own act, authorities have decided. The man was found Sunday.

Partially wrapped in a piece of white canvas, the body was bruised about the face and showed other evidence of a struggle.

This and a strange "suicide" note found in one of the man's pockets, at first led Constable S. A. Landini of Colma to express the belief that the case was another murder mystery.

Laundry marks led to the identification of the body as that of R. D. Marush, who recently came to San Francisco from Reno.

Constable Landini, of Colma, and Mrs. Luella Pepper, deputy San Mateo coroner, declared themselves convinced the case was not a murder, and announced that further investigation would be dropped.

His solution of the case came after an autopsy by Dr. A. H. Rankin and after Eugene Bixler, 209 Clayton street, San Francisco, had told of having seen the man Saturday near the place where his body was later found.

The informant said the man had a black eye and cuts about the face.

Dr. Rankin declared the gun with which the man was killed had evidently been held at close range, indicating suicide.

The author of the note, Landini at first declared, "seemed too anxious" that police should not take the case under investigation as a murder mystery.

Marush, they learned, had complained of illness to C. F. Doran, a barber at 112 Third street. A laundry mark on the piece of canvas on which, the body was lying was traced to this address, and Marush's signature on the book tallied with handwriting in the note found with the body.

The case aroused suspicion when it was observed that the man had been shot through the left temple, yet had signed the note with the fingerprints of his right hand.

All labels and means of identification had been removed except for a belt buckle bearing the initial "M" and the laundry mark on the canvas.

Church Men's Clubs Form Single Group

Congregational, Methodist and Baptist Men's Clubs United

DR. MOATS ADDRESSES

Constitution Adopted; Officers Elected at Meeting

The men's clubs of the Methodist, Baptist and Congragational churches met Wednesday evening at the Baptist Church on James street for a union meeting and for the formation of a single club for men of any church. The ladies of the Baptist Church furnished a splendid dinner, after which the business of the club was discussed.

The speaker of the meeting was Dr. Newton Moats, Methodist pastor of San Francisco. Dr. Moats spoke on the topic, "Don't go to Work Tired Tomorrow." His talk was most interesting, and decidedly applicable at this time when so many men are sufferinug from nervous strain and worry.

A report on the constitution committee was read by Donald Bogie. Bogie read the proposed constitution, which was adopted as read. The constitution provides that the club shall be called the Menokirk club; that it shall be open to any man of the community; and that its object shall be the fostering of boys' work, the furthering of the work of the various churches, and the promotion of good fellowship among the men of the various denominations.

Later Donald Bogie read the report of the nominating committee. Committee nominate B. E. Myers, president; Herman Philips, vice-president; and A. R. Stevens, secretary-treasurer. They were all unanimously elected.

Fred Gatchell spoke briefly concerning the picnic of all Sunday schools to be held Saturday on the grounds of the Sequoia Union High School, and urged all who could do so to be present and assist in the arrangements.

Time Extension In Murder Case

Mrs. Roderick and Woodring Hearing for Attorneys To File Briefs

A twenty day extension of time was given Attorney General U. S. Webb to file his brief by the appellate court Wednesday when the appeals of Minnie Roderick and William Woodring came up for hearing. Attorneys for the San Mateo county pair, Ferrell and Comba for Woodring, and Jos. J. Bullock for Mrs. Roderick, were given an additional fifteen days to file answers to Webb's brief.

Mrs. Roderick and Woodring were jointly convicted of the murder of Frank Roderick, La Honda rancher, by a jury in the court of Superior Judge George H. Buck, October 6, and were given life sentences in San Quentin. They appealed, asking for separate trials.

Roderick's body was found at the bottom of an abandoned well on the ranch on June 27, six weeks after he had disappeared. He had been shot.

The Home Town

Often when things go wrong, or one gets bored, or his liver is full of bile, some individual makes a nasty remark about the town, indicates a desire to move out. Often some one does move out. But its not uncommon to shortly see this same individual show up again on Main street, with a broad smile for everybody, a hearty handshake, and a contageous enthusiasm which indicates he is "tickled pink" to get back.

For the old home town is after all a nice place to live. The blank stare one encounters on city streets, where few persons know anyone else, gets tiresome. Back home, people know you by your first name, and know your worst faults—but hate to see you move away in spite of it al. No matter where the wanderer goes he keeps a warm spot in his heart for the old home town.

The thing that makes a place of residence valuable is friends—even a few friends. One has more friends in towns like Redwood City. Even one's enemies are missed if one goes away, for they too, add to the zest of life, make things interesting at least. You may go away, but you'll some back smiling, happy, full of pep. After all there is but one place to live—the home town.

Good News

All stocks down. Steel hits a new low—115½.

Did you ever see a boy sliding down an icy hill who could stop midway, turn around, and commence to cimb? No sir! When he starts to side he must reach the bottom of the hill before he can turn around and commence his climb to the top.

We have reached the bottom and have commenced to climb. According to statistics, one million more men are employed today than thirty days ago.

The ladder of life is full of splinters, but they always prick the hardest when we are sliding down.

Editorial Circuit Rider

(A symposium of Editorial Comment from California Newspapers.)
(By United Press)

Something must be done about water.

The opinion is unanimous among California editors that the state, face to face with a water shortage, must enact legislation which will conserve and develop its water resources.

Recent report of the state railroad commission pointed out that the water supply of California is the lowest over a period of fifty years.

Legislators have attempted to enact measures which would provide a co-ordinated water plan for the state. Efforts for this session have been abandoned and those who are trying to solve the situation are now looking forward to a special session, to be called by Governor Rolph for the express purpose of placing before the people a conservation program.

Each part of the state has its own particular problem and editors in their discussion of the subject agree that their problem is more than local—it is statewide.

"It is regrettable that we were not able to get along further with the water legislation at his session," writes the editor of the Visalia Times-Delta. "Whatever the outcome, however, the state has at last become conscious that we have a water problem and that it must be solved. It is inconceivable that small minds and selfish interests will be permitted to stand in the way of a development on which future progress of many portions of California depend."

With reference to the Santa Ana river situation, the Orange Daily News says:

"The future of the county flood control and water conservation program now seems to rest largely in the hands of water companies of the Santa Ana basin. The elements opposed generally have accepted the new plan and are willing to have it carried through. No expert report is needed, of course, to convince thoughtful citizens that our water problems are yearly growing more serious and their solution more pressing."

The Bakersfield Californian discusses, "the Central basin, and that includes the counties of the Sacramento valley, have a common interest in the conservation of moisture that falls on the Sierra watersheds, and not one of them can afford to war against the consumation of a plan designed to benefit the whole. It is futile to contend that any section of the central valleys can be benefited through the wasteful discharge of water into the bay. The impounding of it in the mountains, thus insuring a steady flow and surplus against the time of shortage, is the thing that will give service when service is needed."

"Faqing a common danger, we must meet the emergency with a united effort, forgetting past differences and letting the dead bury its past," writes Mr. Jerome in the Santa Ana Register, regarding the water question.

And Orvin B. Gaston, editor of the Vallejo Evening Chronicle, in speaking of the proposed extra session of the legislature says: "A special session of the legislature to deal with the statewide water problem new seems certain. The cost and inconvenience will be trifling compared to the importance of the subject."

That Tax Relief Report

By MELVIN LORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Sweeping reforms in California's tax system or just another report?

That's the question being asked by observers at the state capitol as the bill creating a tax research bureau in the State Board of Equalization is about to become law.

There are those who look upon creation of this permanent tax fact finding body as the millenium in the state's long search for an equitable distribution of the tax burden.

Others ominously mutter "look out for politics," and profess to believe that it will be "just another report."

A calm resume of the whole situation, made by an unbiased observer, is encouraging. This man, a veteran in state politics, believes that the plan for a permanent research body is the best idea evolved since California began examining its revenue system through commissions—back in 1906. Since that time there have been five investigating bodies, only one of which produced a report that changed the taxing method to any extent.

This observer sums up the situation somewhat as follows:

"The tax research bureau will be located in the State Board of Equalization. Its decisions will be made by three votes—one by the governor, one by the director of finance, who is appointed by the governor, and one by the Board of Equalization, voting as a unit.

"Obviously this gives control to the governor, an elected official. Governor Rolph has given no indication of being about to retire from politics. The bureau very evidently will find needed changes in the tax system. If the governor expects to continue in politics he must satisfy those who cast the most votes, and they are the ones who are now most in need of relief from the tax burden—the owners of real property.

"Heretofore the governor could retire behind the skirts of the commissions—claim that he was not responsible for their decisions, as not one has had the governor as a voting member. Now he will be directly responsible to the people, for it is his commission and he alone is responsible for its decisions.

"The slightest taint of corporation influence in the report which the research bureau will give is going to be apparent and Governor Rolph alone will be responsible. The first report will be given in January 1933, and another election will be held little more than a year later.

"It looks as though we might get an honest report at last."

Memorial Day

As year after year passes, and the tragic lessons of the World War still fail to bring international arrangements assuring peace, many grow discouraged. Armaments are still great, by land and sea. Statesmen are still wrangling over war payments and making preparations for future wars. Burdens are still heavy and are ever increasing.

Jealousy, envy and hostility still exist among nations. The millenium cannot come all at once. Human nature, long in the shaping, can be purified but sowly. Men in the mass are more primitive and subject to mob passions than men individually.

Peace ideals are growing stronger, but the political changes necessary to put them into effect are hard to make. Sound progress is slow. It takes time. Meanwhile it is a great gain that, men and nations still talk war, there is no war. Such fighting as we have had in the last decade has been nearly all civil fighting to settle domestic problems—not international. The longer peace is preserved, the safer grows the future. Peace tends to become a habit.

A Diploma Is Not Conclusive

There is a lot of hazy thinking over the country as to education. The fact that a boy or a girl manages to get a diploma does not necessarily testify conclusively that their education has been a success, because it takes more than dates, facts, formulas and figures to make an educated human being.

There are men and women who have never seen a college, but who, nevertheless, are better educated than some of the young graduates. When you know what we mean by this you are beginning to show signs of education, yourself.

Cutting Down Motor Accidents

The licensing of motor car drivers after examination and test is a practical step in the direction of reducing the number of motor vehicular accidents in this country. The states which have the mandatory examination and driving test for prospective drivers are Arizona, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont and West Virginia as well as the District of Columbia.

The state which prescribe "licenses" without the mandatory examination and driving test, or making them optional with traffic authorities or using them chiefly for revenue raising purposes, are Indiana, Maine, Michigan, Nebraska, South Carolina, Washington and Wisconsin.

The rate of accident increase in the States which license drivers by examination and test has been 29 per cent less than during the same time in the states which do not license drivers.

Chapter 11.

Fresh Danger

"Don't look at me as if I were a ghost, Constance," said the stranger laughingly, while Sheila fumbled wildly for some way out of the situation. "Where on earth did you keep yourself during the voyage, and why weren't you on the passenger list?"

Sheila's first thought was to say that she'd been ill and had kept to her cabin, but second thought told her that, if this woman knew Constance, she probably knew Tommy Fitzgerald also, and would soon hear the story of the tourist cabin and the reason for it.

So she repeated this story carefully and was rewarded by gales of laughter.

"Isn't that like you, Constance! You always do the strangest things . . . .But you must have decided to cross on the spur of the moment, because I saw your mother only two days before I sailed, and she said you were booked for a summer of house-parties in the States."

"Oh, yes, I — I decided quite, quite suddenly," declared Sheila brightly.

The woman's gaze wandered around the salon suspiciously.

"You are alone? You didn't — er — the Count de Bellefonte is not aboard, is he?

"No, oh, no!" denied Sheila hastily.

"Well, it would be a great relief to your mother to know that. . . . Oh, Tommy," she beckoned that young man to her, and Sheila had occasion to thank her stars that she had listened to the prompting voice within her and stuck to the story. "Will you look who has been with us all the time, and we never suspected it!"

"I suspected it. In fact, I knew it," he grinned brazenly. "But I let her think she was hoodwinking me. . . I say, Myra, want to motor to Paris? Connie's going with me, but I've plenty of room in the car for you."

"Myra!" Sheila recalled the list of names that Constance had given her, but she couldn't remember a single Myra. The woman's name was probably on the passenger list, but, if so, why hadn't Constance noticed it? Sheila hoped sincerely that "Myra" would decline Tommy's invitation, but such luck was not for her. Myra accepted with alacrity. "Splendid, Tommy! I'd adore it. The boat train always seems so stuffy, after a week on the sea." She turned to Sheila: "You are a naughty girl to break all your engagements at the eleventh hour, just to pay a bet. Where was your first house-party?"

Sheila realized with a shudder that Constance hadn't told her that. She would have to take a chance. She murmured: "At Newport," with an assurance she was far from feeling.

"But it's frightfully early for Newport. Whom were you going to?"

It seemed to Sheila that the boat and the waters of the port were merging dizzily. Why, she asked herself, hadn't Constance told her where she was supposed to have gone that summer?

She picked a name at random. "To Mrs. Townsend."

In a second she knew that she had made a bad guess. Myra's expression was puzzled. "But Jane Townsend is at Deauville at this very moment, and she's going on to Germany for the summer."

Sheila caught at a straw. "Y-yes I — I know," she stammered, feeling horribly certain that the assured Constance never stammered over her explanations — probably never made explanations at all. "That's one reason why I could make the trip. The house-party was called off when Mrs. — when Jane Townsend decided to go to Europe."

"Well, that's really funny," declared Myra emphatically. "I never knew Jane to do a thing like that. She's a perfect stickler in the matter of her social engagements and, besides, she told me as early as February that she was coming to Europe in May. That shows how little you can trust your friends. But I'm certainly going to rag her about this when I see her at Deauville."

Sheila felt as though she were sinking into a very black pit. She could only hope that Myra wouldn't encounter Jane until after Constance Kerr had arrived in Paris and assumed her own identity. The only thing she had to be thankful for was the fact that she had named some one who actually gave house-parties at Newport. It would have been rather awful, if she had hit at random on a person whose summer home was at Bar Harbor or in the Adirondacks.

To her vast relief, Tommy marshalled her and the talkative Myra out of the salon and across the deck and onto the pier. Then several reporters descended upon Shiela, addressing her as "Miss Kerr," and voicing questions. She heard the click of camera-shutters and realized why Constance Kerr hadn't dared risk coming to Paris before undertaking her errand to London.

She could almost have kissed the mustached custom official who, at the moment, demanded the keys to her luggage and thereby created a fortunate diversion.

Tommy seized her, after the inspection was finished, and hurried her to the street where his car was waiting. Myra was already seated in it.

Sheila was tucked into the tonneau between Myra and Tommy. She realized uneasily that Myra was regarding her closely. "You look ever and ever so much better than you did the last time I saw you, Constance. You're younger and prettier and fresher. What have you been doing—taking a rest cure?"

"On shipboard — yes," laughed Sheila, with a deliberately casual air.

Tommy laughed suddenly, and she demanded to know why. "I was just thinking," he said, "what a peach of a story this will make for the gossips in our set. Can't you just hear the chatter?"

Flying Snakes Elude Capture in Wilds of Borneo

New York Zoo Reptile Curator Describes Reptiles

ST. LOUIS, May 14—(UP)Snakes that fly, fish that climb trees and snakes more deadly than the cobra were described by Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of reptiles and mammals at the New York City zoological gardens during a luncheon here.

Flying snakes, they sail through the air by flattening themselves as they "hop off"—are found in the jungles of Borneo and Java, Dr. Ditmars related. Because of their flying ability they are almost immune from capture. Dr. Ditmars declared that he did not know of these snakes ever having been captured.

In describing their flight, Dr. Ditmars said they coast through the air in a great arc.

Deadlier Than Cobra

A snake 50 times more deadly than the Cobra was discussed by the New Yorker. "The Tiger snake found in Australia is the most poisonous snake in the world," Dr. Ditmars said. "This has been proven by tests. Taken drop for drop the venom is 50 times more powerful than that of the cobra. Fortunately the tiger snake is not aggressive and delivers its poison in relatively small doses."

The second most poisonous snake is the tree viper found only on a little island off the coast of Sauntos, Brazil, Dr. Ditmars said.

Feeds on Birds

This snake depends upon birds for food. Nature has provided it with a deadly poison—poison that kills instantly. Otherwise the bird, although fatally wounded, would fly away to die.

The most expensive zoological specimen, Dr. Ditmars said, was the rhinoceros. Under the present market prices a rhinoceros would cost about $7,000, he said.

Dr. Ditmars has an ambition. He said "I've always felt that I wanted to own a rattlesnake ledge so that I could feel I was kind of mothering the whole gang of rattlesnakes and helping them along a bit."

Climbing fish, found in Malaysia, have spurs on the under part of their body and actually climb trees, Dr. Ditmars said.

Cement was first produced commercially in California only 33 years ago. Now the state's yearly output exceeds twelve million barrels, valued at more than $25,000,000.

With huge investments, large pay-rolls, wide distribution and seasonal "peaks" of demand—the cement manufacturer requires a strong, convenient, helpful bank.

Bank of America, financing thousands of construction projects throughout the state, knows the problems of builders and material men, and often has the privilege of assisting both. The contractor, the material company, the dealer and the owner may be at widely-separated points. But this Bank's statewide service brings them near together—frequently saving time and money for all.

With construction costs at the lowest level in years, conditions are now unusually favorable for building. You are invited to consult this Bank regarding the financing of a home or any building project.

MENLO PARK

The city council met in regular session Tuesday evening, all members being present with the exception of Dr. Blake.

A communication was read from C. F. Philbrick complaining that his little girl, aged 9, was nearly run down by an automobile driver at the grammar school recently. He did not blame the police department; rather he commended it for its vigilance. Philbrick urged the construction of an under pass on the highway at the school. The council after some discussion agreed to see the highway commission on the subject.

The citizens petitioned the council to improve Fremont st. There were ten signers to the petition headed by Charles Palmer. Mr. Rankin, who was present and who was one of the signers, was told by the council to have the property owners to get together and formulate a petition signed by a majority of the owners on the street and that action would be taken soon.

Street Commissioner Crane presented the report of Chief of Police Love for the month ending, April 30. The report was as follows:

Licenses collected $247.65; motor fines, $72.50; other fines $73.50; hall fees, $20, making a total of $413.65.

Assessment diagram of Stanford Park, from which assessments are to be made, was adopted by the council. It was presented by City Engineer Mehl.

A resolution was adopted accepting a deed to one foot of land on Pine street from the Redwood City Realty Company.

The council adjourned to Wednesday evening at 7:30, when important matters are to be acted upon.

The Native Sons and Daughters of Menlo Park observed Mothers' Day by a banquet in their lodge hall Monday evening. For a number of years this has been the custom of both parlors in keeping the event. On these occasions the mothers of the members are invited and hold honored position at the festive board. During the progress of the banquet a program was rendered. Mayor Weeden was toastmaster. After appropriate remarks by him on the sentiment of the event the program was presented. Judge Jean Hoss delivered the address on "Mother." He paid splendid tribute to the mothers whose sacrifice and devotion to their children was well known. He deplored the fact that many were inclined to commercialize the day, which should be held sacred, as the one day in the year that should be devoted to mothers.

D. E. O'Keefe delivered an address on C. N. Felton, a Menlo Park pioneer, who came to California during the gold rush with seventy cents and died leaving as estate of $10,000,000. John Bracesco, president of the Native Sons, paid a neat tribute to the parlor. Mrs. Frank M. Lintner, president of the Native Daughters, was eloquent in referring to the progress of her parlor.

Mrs. Isabella Lindquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Weeden, sang softly and beautifully, and was encored several times. The dance, with graceful rythm, by Miss Lilian Santaluce, was applauded. The singing of Tommy and Earl Howard was a decided hit. The songs dear to every mother's heart were sung by Mrs. Ewers. District Deputy Mrs. McDonald of Mountain View parlor, delivered a very eloquent speech on Mothers' Day.

Among the others who made addresses were Miss Meta Kugeler, Mrs. F. Derry, Edward Derry, Frank Johnson, Mr. F. X. Kavanagh, "Doc" Walsh, E. J. Crane, Mrs. W. H. Weeden, Mrs. Stanton, Mrs. Decontini and Mrs. Larrecou and George Murray.

Miss Elena Ponzini, the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ponzini of this city, will be married in the Church of the Nativity on May 31 to John Ventura of Palo Alto. The honeymoon is to be spent at Los Angeles. The young couple are to make their home in Menlo Park, the birth place of the craming bride-to-be.

F. J. Furnivall has not moved into the city of Menlo Park as reported. The house he, leased recently was not the one he occupied. He still resides on the Alameda.

The Boy Scouts of Menlo Park are to give a card party in the auditorium of the grammar school on May 26. Fifty prizes are to be awarded. There will be two prizes for each and every table. The Scouts are looking forward to the event with great anticipation as the receipts of the game will go to the Scout fund.

The street improvement in Stanford Park will be completed in about ten days. The residents there are to give a dinner in honor of the event shortly, after the completion. On this occasion the city administration is to be lauded for its good work in ordering the work done. On the strength of these improvements over twenty houses are being erected in that favored district. Let other portions of Menlo Park profit by the lead of Stanford Park.

The tidy sum of $325 was paid into the treasury this week secured from fines imposed upon gamblers by Judge Hoss. The Chinese who were arrested last week and will be defended by Attorney Gloria, who defended the Chinese who was charged with killing "Boss Missey" in San Francisco some time ago. The Celestial was freed of the charge by a jury.

Miss Regina Harrington, one of Menlo's belles, sailed last week for Honolulu to spend her vacation on the Islands. Miss Harrington holds a responsible position with the American Trust Company of Palo Alto.

J. J. Doyle, proprietor of the Palm Hotel and also a general contractor, proved to his employees that he is also a Toreador.

Mr. Doyle is erecting a residence near Woodside for a San Francisco owner. Last week his men were engaged in laying the sewers to the new home, and during the excavating of the streets, the customary red warning flags were displayed. This not only warned the traffic but also attracted the attention of a Bovine in a near-by pasture who immediately accepted this as a challenge, forcing the men to seek protection in the trench. Mr. Doyle's attention was attracted to the predicament by his foreman, Mr. Wallace, who realized the seriousness of the situation.

Doyle was soon on the spot and having no weapon for his defense, grabbed the red flag and after a brief skirmish which was conducted in a masterly fashion and such as only experience can do, was soon the master of the situation.

The Bovine lost little time in retreating to his pasture leaving Doyle in possession of the Fort. Doyle certainly knows how to handle the Bovine as proved in the manner in which he made it stick.

The annual spring production of the St. Joseph Players of Menlo Park will be "Not Herbert," a comedy of the night in four acts. It will be presented on Saturday and Sunday evenings, May 16 and 17, at the grammar school auditorium, highway, Menlo Park. Admission for adults will be 50 cents and children 25 cents. Curtain at 8:15.

"Not Herbert" is full of laughs from the opening line to the last drop of the curtain. It is an American "Raffles" with all the intrigue and suspense of the original. The plot evolves around a master crook, who is in the disguise of a simple, downtrodden poet brother in a socially distinct family. The situations are plentiful and are handled delicately and artistically by the author. The way the whole affair is worked out is clever and unusual.

The cast, under the direction of D. E. Sullivan, has been working industriously and hopes that a large crowd will appraciatively welcome this production that has enjoyed such a fine run in last year's New York dramatic season. It is the first attempt on the part of the players to to bring high royalty New York successes to the community and it will determine the continuance of this attempt in the future.

The cast is as follows:

Cynthia Alden—Frances McAttee; Tracy—Joseph Sullivin; Ruth Webster—Agnes Sullivan; Herbert—Jack Tuttle; Mrs. Alden—Alma Bracesco; Mr. Alden—Tom Glynn; Polly—Ellen Weston; George—Desmond Sullivan; Fanshaw—William Wilson, Jr.; Mrs. Blaine—Julia Kearney; Fletcher—Kip Morey; Jim—Jim O'Keefe.

Jack Tuttle is among those who have applied for the position of state traffic officer. The young man has the ear of Governor Rolph and most likely will be given the coveted position.

Nearly every Sunday from now until late in the fall the Menlo Park hotel grounds have been rented for picnics. The spacious grounds are well adapted for such purposes. Large crowds are expected here.

J. E. Strong, the local tailor, is negotiating with a real estate firm at Burlingame, to open a tailoring establishment in that city. He will continue to reside in Menlo Park.

The city council held a short session Wednesday evening. An ordinance was adopted by the council regulating the excavating of public streets and providing a fine for the violation of said ordinance. A permit to dig up the streets must be had from the superintendent of streets. The applicant must file a bond in a sum equal to fifty cents for each square foot to be excavated.

The fire works ordinance was pased and adopted. It will be unlawful to discharge firearms within the city limits. The use of firecrackers on July 4th is prohibited.

The weed ordinance was up for adoption, but was deferred to give the superintendent of streets time to make a survey of the property on which weeds will have to be removed.

The council adjourned to May 19 at 8 o'clock, when protests for work on Pine street will be heard.

Realty Firm Orders Development Survey

The David D. Bohannon organization, San Francisco realtors, have commissioned Guy Wilfrid Hayler, the noted city and regional planning expert to prepare a report on the future development of the Redwood City and Palo Alto area. This will be made to determine the trend of population and land values and guide investors. The report will be used in connection with the development of the large residential subdivisions now being placed on the market between Redwood City and Palo Alto, and including Belle Haven City and industrial frontages on the bay, Menlo Park, Newbridge Park, Bay Shore Park, etc. Hayler's report will give the small investor in peninsula real estate the same valuable assistance in selecting a home site as has hitherto been available only to those investing in a very large way.

A surprise number was given the club with the appearance of the Y. M. C. A. boys' chorus, who sang three numbers, including one of the Kiwanis songs.

The boys, twenty-five in number, made a splendid appearance with their white shirts, dark trousers and red and blue "Y" hats with its winged triangle insignia.

The boys under the leadership of Herman Philips are preparing to compete in San Francisco tomorrow in the Californiad choral event. Roy A .Hohberger, the local Y. M. C. A. secretary, accompanied the boys.

Another surprise number was a dancing act by two girls from the musical play, "The Pied Piper of Hamlin," which is to be presented at the high school on May 28 by the Girl Scouts of America under the direction of Callen Tjader of San Mateo. The Girls, Jane Dober and Mary Lou Hoffman, are pupils at the McKinley school. Both were dressed like little black cats.

The two girls did a dance together, followed by a tap dance by Mary Lou. Both were very clever and their dancing was enjoyed by the Kiwanians.

The girls were accompanied on the piano by Mrs. M. Jamieson. Mrs. A. S. Kalenborn was with them and spoke concerning the play which is to be given for the benefit of the Girl Scouts of this district.

S.F. Asked to Fight Pest Infestation

The infestation of the wild lilacs of the Spring Valley property now the property of the San Francisco water department, by mealy bugs, has prompted the Burlingame-San Mateo Garden and Folwer Club to send a letter to the San Francisco board of supervisors asking that body to take action toward the extermination of the mealy bug on their holdings. The letter was read by Supervisor Havenner, and a resolution was passed by the board that the matter be investigated. The public utilities committee of the board was ordered to take the matter up with John McLaren, superintendent of parks.

It is likely that an importation of ladybugs (vidalia cardenalis) which in their larval stage prey upon the mealy bug may be made into this region.

Plays To Be Given At M. E. Church

The Mizpah Players, dramatic club of the First Methodist Episcopal Church will present two plays and a pantomime to be given Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the social rooms of the church.

"The Great Moment" and "Grandma Pulls the Strings" are the plays, and "At the End of the Silver Lamp" is the pantomime. Rehearsals have been held for the past several weeks, Mrs. Bess Balcomb coaching the young Thespians.

The first play, "Great Moments" is a comic skit, featuring two lovers and their sweethearts, whose meeting in the park brings about a good many ridiculous situations. The older sister, Celeste, played by Doris Plowman, accompanied by her lover, Harold, played by Fred Schmitz, are hunting for Celeste's little sister, Milly, who has wandered away in search of an adventure. While Harold hunts for Milly, Celeste meets Reggie, an interesting young man from New York. He tells Celeste that he has never met such a wonderful woman as she is, and that he sure that she must have proper parents. Just as he is asking her how old she is, Harold saunters in somewhat indignant at seeing Celeste having such an interesting time with Reggie. He and Celeste leave in search of Milly. Reggie is indignant at Celeste for deceiving him, and as a parting shaft insists that she does not have proper parents at all. Ted Thorn, as Reggie, and May Whitsall, as Milly, furnish the comedy of the forever-young flirtation.

The second part of the entertainment consists of a pantomime set to music. It is played by a strolling company of masquers, who carry their stage setting and props with them, and, after they assure themselves that the house is "good," proceed to set the stage. They put up their curtain, and light the lantern over the door of the Inn, arrange their props and get ready for the play. The story of the love of Pierrot and Pierrette and of how they are opposed by Pantaloon, Pierrette's miserable old father, is told withous words except as the clown explains to the children what it is all about. The cast is as follows: Edward Kilbourne, Punchinello, the old inn-keeper, Pantaloon, Jay McCrea; Pierrette, Gertrude Gibson, Pierrot, Wilbur Scheyer; Columbine, Alberta Johnson; Harlequin; Milton Abbott, and Scaramouche, Louie Nelson; clown, Evelyn Coombs; children, May Myers, Thomasina Alexander and Eula Knox.

The third play, "Grandma Pulls the Strings" is the most ambitious of the three, and the most difficult to stage. An old fashioned livingroom provides the setting for a brisk little comedy featuring grandma, played by Marjorie Stephens. She interfers constantly in the lovemaking of William Thornton, who tries desperately hard to propose to Julia Cummings, but who funds that there is just one way to do it, and that is Grandma's way. The situation is further complicated by the romantic young sister, who aids and abets Grandma in making William do it the right way. Karl Peters, as William, plays opposite Jean Dillard, as Julia, wins the sympathy of the audience in his patient attempts to get Julia to go out with him to the movies or to a restaurant or anywhere to get away from Grandma. Julia will not go because her coat is too shabby, and poor William finally gets his courage up to do his proposing in a way which suits Grandma. The older sister, played by Thla Johnson, furnishes good comedy as she tries to show Hildegarde the romantic little sister, how men propose in these days. Joseph Treichel, as Hildegarde, keeps things moving right along, from her first line, "Miss Julia, fairest lady of my dreams," to her last line, "They've gone out to get kissed." Miss Elsie Thorne in the role of the mother, Mrs. Cummings, tries to help the lovers, but she is outwitted by Grandma and Hildegarde.

The setting and lighting effects are being arranged by Thomas Vernall, assisted by Addison Hall. The plays are being coached by Brs. Bess Balcomb. The funds from the entertainment will be used by the young people of the church to pay the expenses of the delegates to the Institute at Russian River in June.

Admission is 35 cents, or $1.00 for a ticket admitting a family of four persons. Tickets may be procured from any of the players or at the door.

SPEAKING of SPORT

Heavyweight Bout Will Not Clarify Ring Title

Although two "world's heavyweight championship" fights are to be staged within the ensuing sixty days, there appears to be little prospect of clarifying the championship muddle which has existed since Gene Tunney retired undefeated in 1928.

Certainly, none o fthe principals in the two "championship" bouts—Max Schmeling, Jack Sharkey, Young Stribling and Primo Carnera—has done anything in the ring to earn ranking with Tunney, Jack Dempsey and other past title holders.

Even though the survivors of the Schmeling-Stribling and Sharkey-Carnera bouts are paired in a battle of rival titleholders, the winner will not have a clear claim to honors until Tommy Loughran, Victor Campolo, Mickey Walker and other aspirants are eliminated .

The heavyweight class as a whole appears pitifully weak and there is little doubt but that a Dempsey, a Tunney or even a Willard, would crash through the present crop of title contenders like a cannon ball through a shingle roof. However, until some new face appears the championship must be decided among the talent at hand.

Max Schmeling has the strongest claim to honors, even though he won his claim on a foul and in an "elimination" tournament which was limited to a select group named by the New York State Athletic Commission. The German appeared to have the makings of a real champion when he first came to the U. S. and may yet live up to his early promise—although his comparative inactivity of the past two years certainly has done him little good. Max is a good puncher and can take punishment but is no match for Sharkey, Stribling or Loughran in boxing skill.

Stribling jumped back into the championship picture last year by defeating Otto VonPorat, over-rated Norwegian puncher, and "Phailling Phil" Scott of England, but has not been impressive in his more recent bouts against K. O. Christner and Tuffy Griffiths. The Georgian probably will be a betting favorite against Schmeling, but don't be surprised if "Willie the Clutch" fails, just as he has in numerous other important chances.

The New York Commission's "world championship" bout between Sharkey and Carnera is a joke affair. Carnera's only claims to distinction are a long list of dry and wet "tank" opponents, his ability to draw a big crowd, and size. Anyone of a dozen heavyweights should be able to whip the Italian.

Sharkey has had numerous chances to win the title and failed in them all, but retains high ranking partly because of his alleged "pull" with the boxing commission. In seven years of professional boxing, he has not yet learned to keep his punches above the belt line. New York's no-foul rule should aid him against Carnera, but in light of past events it is not hard to believe that Sharkey will find some method of "blowing" his chance with the Italian.

Loughran has the best record of any of the heavyweights during recent months but lack of poundage and punching ability, and the fact that he has none of the needed connections probably will prevent him from ever getting a chance at the title.

ARKANSAS ATHLETE RIVALS "FRANK MERRIWELL"

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., May 15—(UP)—Horatio Alger, Jr., famed boy writer, would have to give considerable thought before he could write a fictitious story equaling the true one about the life of Jack Dale.

The life of Dale, all-Southwest conference foot ball player from Arkansas and coach elect of Arkansas State College, Jonesboro, reads like "Frank Merriwell."

Since coming to the University of Arkansas in 1927, Dale has been a regular on the football and track teams for three years. He is captain of the track team this year and has never been defeated in the pole vault event in a dual meet.

He was a unanimous choice for a fullback on the mythical all-Conference team last year. He was also chosen captain of the all-star Southwest conference grid eleven which defeated a picked team of Big Ten players at Dallas New Year's Day. At the close of a football season last year Dale was a strong candidate for the "most valuable player to his team" trophy given by a Texas newspaper.

Five medals, two trophies, six leters, two numerals, a member of two intramural championship teams, one university track record, and membership in practically all prominent campus organizations, comprise the list of honors won by Dale during his four years at Arkansas. He will get his B. S. E. degree this spring from the College of Education.

Pair To Brave Alaskan Rapids In Small Craft

Seattle Adventurers To Dare Yukon River Passage By Canoe

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, May 14 — (UP) — Three thousand miles in a small boat, through roaring rapids, on a river which crosses desolate subartic wastelands!

That's the adventure faced by Lyman Culver and James Cassady, members of the Washington Alpine Club, of Seattle.

Culver and Cassady brought their small boat here on a cannery tender, and laid in provisions preparatory to their trip through Alaska.

Will Travel to Nome

Their 16-foot canoe, powered by an outboard motor, will take them along the inland waterways to Skagway, 300 miles, where they will ship over famous Chilkoot pass to the headwaters of the Youkon river There they will start their main trip, traveling nearly 2,500 miles by sail, paddle and motor to Nome, on the far west coast of Alaska.

They will camp at night along the river banks, but the canoe is arranged so that one can sleep while the other steers in case they want to travel day and night.

When they reach the mouth of the Yukon, they will have to skirt the edge of Norton Sound 200 miles to Nome.

Seek Adventure

The men plan the trip for pleasure, adventure, and the chance to take pictures of the wilderness. They figure it will take them most of the summer to travel through the Yukon and across Alaska, then they will prowl about in other waters along the west coast until the last boat leaves Nome and Bering Sea for Seattle next November.

Since their small canoe cannot carry many provisions, they will depend upon small settlements along the Yukon to replenish their supply, and will, if necessary, live on game which they hope to be able to shoot along the way.

The Cherokees will contend for the championship in the two classes to be run off, the lightweights and unlimiteds, and will face such opposition as Alameda, last year's winners; Palo Alto, runner-up last year; Tamalpais, Stockton, Crockett, San Jose, Berkeley, and a number of other schools in the vicinity.

Coach Jim Eva will count on Martin in the 220-yard race, Goldthwaite in the two sprints and Tuxford in the breast stroke. Jim Adams will probably swim breast stroke along with Frahm.

RECORD BREAKERS

Both these young fellows, Ben Eastman of Stanford (left) and Frankie Wykoff (USC), performed their best under the arc light at Fresno last Saturday night. Eastman was clocked at 47 1-5 seconds for his quarter mile in the world-record mile relay the Stanford team established at Fresno, which is 1-5 second less than Ten Meredith's 15-year-old record for the quarter. Wyckoff, member of the USPC team that set up a new 440-yard relay world record, also stepped over the 100-yard dash in 9.5 seconds, equaling Eddie Tolan's world record for the century.

Juunior Class Wins Swimming Contests

Scoring 142 points, the junior class won the inter-class swimming title at Sequoia Union High School Tuesday afternoon in the school pool. The event was marked by the establishing and breaking of seventeen records. Following the juniors in the scoring were the sophomores with 74; 40 for the seniors and 21 for the freshmen.

New records were set in all but events in the unlimited class in the 50-yard free style; 50-yard breast stroke; 50-yard stroke; 100-yard breast stroke; 25-yard free style; 100 yard free style, medley swim and both relays. In the 130's 25-yard free style, 50-yard breast stroke, 50-yard back stroke and 100-yard free style.

Only two new records were set in the 120's in the 25-yard breast stroke, and 50-yard free style. Two records were broken and one tied in the final division, the 110's

Louis Eaton led the scoring for the juniors in the unlimited class with 13 points with Adams scoring 12, followed by Gibbs and Goldthwaite with 11 apiece. Karl Frahm led the 130's with 13 points, followed by Stuart Goldthwaite with 11 digits. Ronald Gordon scored three firsts and swam on the winning relay team to score 15 points for the 120's. He was also high point man of the meet with 21 points, having also won the diving in the open division for all classes.

Y. M. C. A. Tennis Meet To Be Held Sat.

The annual Y. M. C. A. tennis tournament is to be held in Palo Alto tomorrow. Eighteen San Mateo county boys and men are entering the meet. Some of the best tennis talent on the Peninsula will meet in the event.

The tourney is under the direction of Howard Zink of Palo Alto, with R. W. Simcock acting as secretary. Following is the list of San Mateo county entries: Bud Young, Robt. Bodwell, Elmer Hanson, Junior Jenkins, Wallace Meyer, Robert Meyer, George Chessum, Kent Atwater, Donald White, Paul Matson, Eldred Segal, Donald Leadley, Robt. Royden, Martin Kemmerle, M. Fegoli, Perry Gonis, Al Luddy and Robt. Fisher.

Other entries will be from San Francisco, Berkeley and other northern California cities.

Peterson led the 110's scoring for the sophomores and also that division with 17 tallies, including three firsts, while Shaffer with 12 and Baker with 11 also figured in the heavy scoring for the lightweights.

The victories of the sophomores and juniors in the tilts look bright for Sequoia next year and the following year, a fact which shows the material of this year's team lies in lower classmen.

HOLLYWOOD'S FILM SHOP

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 15—(UP)—The time-worn expression "They Never Come Back" is one bromide which never will be tucked on Hollywood.

When the talkies came whirling into the studios, directors, actors and executives were caught in the storm and when a sort of a calm settled over the countryside many were high and dry on he rocks.

Some stayed there. Ohers suddenly blossomed out in the talkies. Many names, once bannered in the silent films and then all but forgotten, started to appear again in the newspapers and in the lights over movie theatres.

The most recent example is Ricardo Cortez, husband of the late Alma Rubens. Cortez came to the silent screen shortly after the tragic demise of Rudolph Valentino. Many Hollywood critics called him a great lover; tried to wedge him into the niche left vacant by the passing of Valentino.

As all of Hollywood knows, bad luck seems to follow the second Valentino's the second Barrymores, the second Clara Bows. It is poison to ambition or to screen fortune for some reason. Witness Paramount's eforts to keep the writers from calling Marlene Dietrich the second Garbo.

Starting under this handicap, Cortez fell into other worries. Rubins and their estrangement. The talkies took firm hold and Cortez seemed to be left out.

Almost overnight the casting directors seemed to notice Ricardo still was in Hollywood. A few parts came his way and his work drew favorable comment.

The big break came when Radio Pictures cast Cortez in the romantic role of a Spanish Don opposite Kay Francis in "The Next Corner." Another role in which he featured was in "White Shoulders."

Others who appeared to momentarily lose their stride in the sound films were Estelle Taylor, Lois Wilson, Gretta Nissen, Reginald Denny, Louis Brooks Lila Lee, Eleanor Broadman, Ralph Graves, Jack Holt, and Richard Dix. In each case the comeback was complete and each individual, with one exception, is popular in the talkies at the present writing.

Emotion Will Guide Religion

MADISON, Wis., May 14—(UP) Religion remodeled along the lines of emotion, devoid of dogma, is predicted by Dr. Evander Bradley McGilvary, leading philospher at the University of Wisconsin.

First, scientists must forget their magic and show the public how natural forces accounted for the phenomena that gave rise to dogma, McGilvary said today in an interview with the United Press. Their explanations, with convincing proof, would establish a religion of ideals rather than of mysteries.

But prove what they may, scientists will not eradicate religion, according to McGilvary.

Says Soviet Is Religios

" I know of no stronger anti-religious organization than Soviet Russia, yet the Soviet are intensely religious. But their religion is made up purely of ideals," he said in illustration of his point.

McGilvary was born of Scottish missionaries preaching the gospel in jungle-ridden Siam in 1864. His early days were spent near Bangkok, the only outpost of a ferocious, untamed race.

Translated Gospels

He learned the English language from his parents, and by the time he was 30 years old had translated Matthew, Luke, John, and the Acts of the Apostles into Siamese Loa dialect. He received his first college degree at Davidson, N. C., college in 1884, and received later degrees from Princeton University and the University of California. He taught at Cornell university and the University of California before assuming the University of Wisconsin philosphy department chair which he has held since 1905.

VETERAN

Color of the old days is lent to at least one of Reno's big gambling clubs by the recent acquisition of Clark James, shown above, as faro dealer. James, a stage driver during the really wild and woolly days, also worked for the late Tex Rickard as a faro dealer in Alaska and later at Goldfield, Nev.

Court Adjourned for Game

ATLANTA, (UP)—Courts may be congested and baseball may be on the wane, but senior superior court judge John D. Humphrey's of Atlanta summarily adjourned his court here to permit all hands to attend the opening game of the season—a gesture which even Mayor James L. Key refused to make in behalf of city employees.

Tiger's Tomb Brings Riches To His Village

Clemenceau's Neighbors Wax Fat on Tourist Gold

SAINT VINCENT SUR JARD (Vendee), May 12—(UP)—The tomb of Georges Clemenceau, carved into the gravel of Colombiers Wood, near Mouchamp, has become a gold mine for this barren region of Vendee. Everything that the old Tiger touched during his lifetime in his Vende playground has turned to gold, or rapidly is being converted.

The peasant, whose fields surround the woodlot, has put away his plow and has waxed wealthy by putting up a fence and charging pilgrims four cents to cross his fields to the grave. In all the hotels of the region, the gullible visitors are shown "Clemenceau rooms" and charged for each visit.

When Clemenceau went to Vendee, he generally remained close to his fishermaun's hut, but there are dozens of hotels that offer visitors the sight of an authentic lair of the old Tiger.

Shacks Sprung Up

Around the grave and the hut have been hastily erected shacks from which Vendee fishermen and farmers, who have quit their nets and plows now sell plaster busts, bits of the Tiger's garden walls and even dried seeds from his garden.

The Tiger's old chauffeur, Brabant, has grown rich beyond his dreams. Without funds or a job, Brabant came to Saint Vincent upon the death of Clemenceau as custodian of the fishing house. Now tourists who pour through the place leave a stream of gold behind them, generally estimated at from $20 to $30 a day.

There has been nothing but quarreling in Vende since Clemenceau died, so to restore peace there soon will be three fishing huts along the coast, all exactly alike inside and out.

Never Quarreled

During his life, Clemenceau never had any quarrels with his landlords. His little hut was owned by M. Luce de Tremont and was built on ground belonging to M. de Tremont, Madame Mevin and the French Government. The Tiger paid France four cents a year rent, Mme. Mevin eight cents and M. de Tremont $6.00.

In the Clemenceau biography by his secretary, M. Jean Martlet, there were several disagreeable references by the Tiger to his landlord M. de Tremont, angered, at first refused to give up the house for a museum, but finally agreed provided a replica was built and furnished on adpoining ground. That made a pair of the Vendee huts.

Then Secretary Martet decided to build another replica. That makes three huts along the seafront, as like as three peas in a pod.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.

If baby could be particular
...She'd have her mother cook with ELECTRICITY

"RIGHT NOW when I need the most care and attention, mother should spend almost all her time with me.

"But just when I want her, she has to be in the kitchen. If she would only let an electric range cook her meals and daddy's automatically, she wouldn't need to stay in the kitchen—she could be with me."

It's easy to have perfect cooking without the usual bother of watching in the kitchen—when you cook with electricity. And that's because of the time and temperature controls. You simply place the food in the oven, say at one o'clock, and set the controls. At three o'clock the meal starts cooking. At six, the electricity turns off. The insulated oven keeps the food hot until you are ready to serve it. Think how nice this will be when company is coming for dinner on a day when you want to be free during the whole afternoon.

Then too, cooking with electricity is economical. The cost for current averages 1c a meal per person. Moreover, cooking elements are faster today—as fast as you'd want them.

A small down payment places the electric range of your choice in your kitchen, ready to use. Come into our office or a dealer's store and see the beautiful new electric ranges.

Andrew Teague has returned from the Gilroy springs with his health much improved.
Logging is now under full headway in the redwoods, and very soon the mills will be in active operation again.
The Turners are making rapid headway in their arrangements for the great state festival to be held here the latter part of June. The new buildings in the park are nearly completed, and as soon as the crops are off, the additional ground will be enclosed. The committees are assured of an unusually large crowd, and have concluded their arrangements with the railroad company accordingly. Five or six special trains will run between San Francisco and this place daily during the festival.
Michael Kreiss has established a branch of his famous Redwood City brewery at Mountain View, where he will brew supplies of beer exactly adapted to the critical pallets of the Mountain Viewers.
The ladies of the Episcopal church are industrially occupied preparing for the entertainment to be given at Germania Hall on the 7th, 8th, and 9th of June. A large assortment of useful and fancy articles, the workmanship of the ladies' own fair hands, will be exposed for sale, with fruits, flowers and knicknacks. No pains are being spared to make this one of the most attractive entertainments ever given in Redwood City.
The picnic of the Sunday school of the Episcopal church last Saturday was heartily enjoyed by the ones. The day was charming, and the spot selected—on the Hawes ranch—just adapted to the purpose.
